ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,

Indianapolis, April 24, 1847. GENERAL ORDERS, No. 9.

For the information and government of the volunregulations are hereby made known:

I. As the company only has the right, under the laws of the State, to elect their Captain, as well as for a more special authority to raise a company. Should any one raise a company in the hope of being and company officers with volunteers taken into the service of the United States, under the act of 13th May, 1846, must be appointed and commissioned in accordance with the laws of the States from whence they are taken, I beg to suggest the extreme importance to the public service that the officers for the additional force here requested, be judiciously selected." signed; which acceptance will promptly be communi-Enjoining, therefore, the necessary circumspection upon all who are vested with the appointing power by the laws of the State, it will be borne in mind that in accordance with those laws the officers above enumerated are to be appointed and commissioned as fol-

1. The commissioned officers of each company are to be elected, after the company is full, by a majority of the members present, at a time and place agreed upon by a majority of the company: the result of the elections to be certified by three judges of the election, and attested by the clerk thereof, who are all to be elected by a majority of the members present for that purpose, and the judges are to be sworn by the clerk, or in his absence by one of their own number, before going into the election of the military officers. The certificate is to be forwarded to the Adjutant General of the State, in order that the Governor may issue the commissions without

The elections may be held as soon as the company is full, without waiting ten days, provided the time and place be agreed upon by a majority of the company, and all the members have due notice thereof. 2. Non-commissioned officers of the company, are to be nominated by the members and appointed by the Captain thereof.

3. The Secretary of War states that, "Should the number of companies here called for be raised, they will be at once organized into a regiment, and your Excellency is requested to commission the field and company officers. It may become necessary to order the several companies to the scene of action as fast as they are raised and mustered into service, in which case they could be organized into battalions and regiments on reaching the place of destination."

V. The commissioned officers of the regiment will be elected after the same is full, by the officers and men thereof, in conformity with the laws of the State, the requirements of which and all other necessary particulars will in due time be communicated through the medium now adopted.
